

Call for Expressions of Interest to conduct an Impact Assessment for the Shifting the Power Coalition

The Shifting the Power Coalition seeks to appoint a consultant to conduct an evaluation of The Women Shaping the Pacific COVID-19 Recovery project.

The project has been implemented in partnership with the Pacific Islands Forum with funding from the European Union through Technical Cooperation and Capacity Building Facility (TECCBUF). Under Key Result Area 4 of the TECCBUF, the programme supports the strengthening of the participation of Non-State Actors and CSOs to participate more effectively in regional policymaking, development, and implementation processes.

The project aims to ensure that the Pacific Humanitarian Pathway is more accountable to the women's rights agenda as well as demonstrating the collective power and collaboration across the Coalition to strengthen women-led national CSO platforms to drive inclusive policies and actions as Pacific women face multiple crises situations, including COVID-19

Preference will be given to candidates with experience in the Pacific region and/or supporting feminist coalitions.

1. The purpose of this evaluation is to:

- i. Evaluate performance against project outcomes and objectives as per the MEL framework, and the role the PIFS-NSA grant has played in supporting the 3 country partners to influence the adoption of gender inclusive prevention, response and recovery plans through the Pacific Humanitarian Pathway on COVID-19;
- ii. Evaluate how the Shifting the Power Coalition has contributed to support partners engagement in regional policy making, development and implementation processes;
- iii. Identify lessons that can be incorporated by the Coalition to influence national humanitarian action and the regional humanitarian architecture;
- iv. Identify good practices in relation to women's leadership, disability inclusion and localisation in humanitarian action for broader sector learning
